

Open Loop Control

A simple control method where the control unit gives an output based on an input value.

